A vintage black and white photograph of a large group of children and young men, likely a theatrical troupe, posed in three rows. They are wearing various costumes, including military uniforms, sailor suits, and theatrical robes. The background is a painted backdrop of an interior scene. The group consists of approximately 20 individuals. In the front row, four children are seated or kneeling. The middle row features several young men in military-style uniforms with hats and sashes. The back row includes more young men in various costumes, some with tall hats. The overall tone is formal and staged.
